2nd Annual Calumet Rd Earth Day clean-up sponsored by Alpha Source, Inc.

MILWAUKEE, April 15, 2011 – Alpha Source, Inc., voted one of Milwaukee's fastest growing private companies for a second year by the Metropolitan Milwaukee Association of Commerce (MMAC), will be holding its second annual Earth Day clean-up of Calumet Rd known as Project Calumet on Friday, April 22, 2011.

Project Calumet is an effort to get more involved in local and community initiatives and represents the beginning for Alpha Source's 2011 planned community activities. "As the winter gives way to a street littered with soda cans, plastic bottles, debris, and other items it has become clear that Project Calumet is a great way to show our support not only for the environment but for the community in which our business is conducted, " Joe Chmielewski, Alpha Source Senior Project Manager.

This year, Alpha Source, Inc., has invited their business neighbors to take part in Project Calumet. A Branovan Company located next door to Alpha Source, is one of several companies who will be providing up to 50% of its workforce to assist in the clean-up efforts. Milwaukee County Supervisor Johnny Thomas will also be joining the local businesses of Calumet Woods Business Park Association in support of Project Calumet.
